

SCREENPLAY: MATER MORT(I)S.

AUTHOR: PABLO SCIEPURA.

WEBISTE: HTTP://WWW.PAULLEROCQ.COM.AR

GENRE: HORROR.

Logline:

The biggest disaster ever witnessed at the local Amusement Park barely leaves a few injured teenagers, gathering their former school mates parents at a local hospital with darker intentions than what meets the eye.

Synopsis:

An ordinary day at the local Theme Park is turned into a unprecedented disaster when a roller coaster flies away from its rails during a ride, followed by the tangling of the flying chairs cables and the lost of the Ferris Wheel ´s axis, causing its rolling down a small steep next to the amusement area.

Miraculously, no deaths are reported. A handful of surviving teenagers wait at the local hospital to be discharged whilst their parents nervously pray for the best outcome in the waiting room.

As minutes go by, they start recognizing each other from high school, realizing that fate might have brought them together under that dreadful circumstance for some hidden reasons when strange events at the hospital and later on at their dwellings force them to get back together to solve the puzzle, along with their endlessly terrified sons and daughters dragged into a living hell.